12/1/22 PLS Meeting Minutes

Bev called the meeting to order with 12 present.

Treasurer's report (Joyce was waylaid by weather, so she emailed the info to me): checking account is at $3,680.06. Investment balance will be reported at a future date.

Demo: Tuesday, 12/20, 5:30 – 8:00. Magic At the Mill (Mission Mill), in Salem. Let Bev know if you will be there.

Louise's Milanese and Bucks class in March is almost full; if you want to register, let Bev know right away.

Please remember to keep track of your demo hours, including prep and travel.

As she downsizes, Alice has kindly donated many of her surplus lace books to the PLS library. Bev brought a batch for us to see and check out, and there's another batch coming next month. Thank you, Alice!

Mark your calendars: Saturday, May 20 will be our annual Lace Day, held at the Winona Grange in Tualatin.

Meeting adjourned for show-and-tell.

The link for the Guiding Star pattern that Bev showed us is:

<https://lesleyslace.blogspot.com/>

Bev increased the pricking 150%.

Lesley Williams has many other patterns, Louise West sells them in her online store: <https://shop.louisewestlacedesign.co.uk/collections/patterns-by-lesley-f-williams>

Respectfully submitted,

LeAnn Smith

1/5/2023 PLS Minutes

LeAnn will be doing a presentation on lace for the Northwest Regional Spinners and Fiber Arts group on Saturday.

Our February and April meetings will have another group upstairs, but it will not affect us.

Lynda will be leading the travel pillow construction class after the February meeting. The cost is $20 for materials and she has emailed a supply list. Email her if you are interested.

Louise's class in March is full – we're all looking forward to attending.

Meeting adjourned for show and tell.

The knitted knockers pattern has changed; Pauline has the new one and Jean will either publish it in the newsletter or email it to us.

Respectfully submitted,

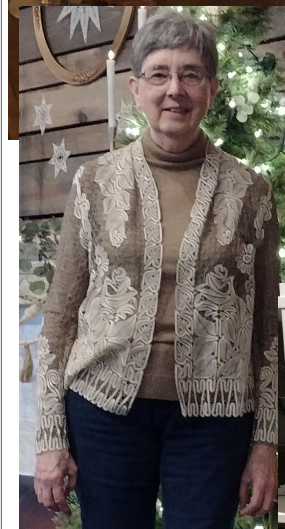

LeAnn Smith

Here is a little preview of the stars Beverly worked on all year and donated to her church for their holiday decorations.

The whole article will be sent in a separate document so it can be enjoyed all on its own.

Several of us went on a little field trip to visit the stars in person. Very impressive.

While taking pictures of the stars her husband got one of her in the Russian Lace jacket.

One of her stars found an angel to pal up with.

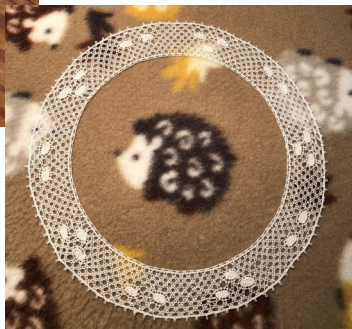

IOLI will have the article next time too.

Anna made another picture for a gift. Her friend is a bird person so this little bird in the nest is just the ticket for a birthday present.

Looks almost like embroidery, but she does it all with bobbin lace. Nicely framed too.

My Flanders practice piece showing off my Hedgehog pillow cover.

Maria's daughter makes these.

We had a good time at Magic at the Mill. Lots of people came by. They were busy all night.

Sherilynn, Carol, Beverly - - - - - >

You can tell from the big smiles that they were having a great time being out and about .

Lots of bobbins flying with their twist, cross, twist....

Pauline and her mom wearing their lace scarves.

Great way to display your fan Jackie.

We had a tatter with her little bag of tricks to show.
Thanks Mary

I was there with my laptop working with Beverly on her star article and taking pictures. Jean

OIDFA Congress News

This is one of the beautiful pieces being offered at the OIDFA congress.

Carol and Beverly are making their plans and signing up to be there. I'm waiting for them to come home and share this with us.

There are lots of Zoom classes being offered. I've been looking and changing my mind about what I want to do and can't seem to make up my mind.

If you are interested, I suppose it is best to get signed up right away. The class descriptions, requirements and teacher biographies are online.

If you are not a member of OIDFA you can join online and then sign up for a class.

Anna doesn't just make pictures. She likes those beautiful French books and here is a very nice Torchon piece from one of those.

Lots of work. Well done Anna.

Judy did a project from the USB Starts and Finishes. Looks like she got it just right.
